

Pack of Alphabet Charts – QWERTY Layout

This pack contains a selection of alphabet charts arranged in a QWERTY layout (as on a computer keyboard). A pack containing a selection of alphabet charts arranged in alphabetical order is available from www.acecentre.org.uk. It may be worth trying both options as pointing to letters on paper can feel different from using a keyboard.

At www.acecentre.org.uk there is a pack of alphabet charts made using high contrast fonts and background colours which some may find easier to see and use. If pointing to letters is difficult, there are also alphabet charts designed to be accessed by listener mediated scanning or by eye pointing.

This pack contains three different sizes of alphabet chart and different options including with / without numbers and with / without space for personal messages. Examples of such messages include important phrases to do with a care or medical need, phrases that are used repeatedly, phrases that give clues as to what is being talked about like, “I’m talking about something that has already happened” or phrases that help with conversation such as, “I’ve got an opinion on that”.

Consider printing the alphabet chart of your choice on card or tearproof / waterproof paper. Alternatively, it could be laminated, ideally using a matt laminate pouch as gloss may reflect overhead lighting.

For more information about developing, using and supporting alphabet charts, please see www.acecentre.org.uk or use the free advice line 0800 080 3115. At www.acecentre.org.uk you will also find a wide range of alternative paper-based communication tools available for download.
